RESOLUTIONS,

Introduced by Gen. Abbott, and adopted by the late grand demonstration for Republicanism in Wilmington last Monday night:

WHEREAS, We, the Republicans of Wilmington and New Hanover county comprehending the necessity to the welfare of the people of keeping the control of the National Government under the guidance of the great principles which have held it since 1861, therefore,

Resolved, That we reassert and reaffirm the great principles of the Republican Party, as maintained during and since the canvass of 1860, and especially those of the late Convention held in Chicago, and that we endorse and approve the nominations of Gen. James A. Garfield and Gen. Chester A. Arthur, as our candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, and pledge to them our undivided support.

Resolved, That we reiterate anew the principles uttered by our state Conventions since the year 1867, when the Republican Party of North Carolina was organized, and endorse and approve the platform lately adopted at the State Convention at Raleigh, and pledge our best and most assiduous efforts towards the election of our state ticket nominated on that occasion, composed of gentlemen whose character and standing among their fellow citizens is such as to vindicate the propriety of their selection for high official stations.

Resolved, That we confidently appeal to the people and to the better judgment of the state, asking them to seal with their approval at the polls the following ticket: Ralph P. Buxton for Governor; Rufus Barringer for Lieut. Governor; Richard M. Norment for Secretary of State; Aaron D. Jenkins for Treasurer; Riley H. Cannon for Auditor; Augustus M. Moore for Attorney General; and Archie R. Black for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Resolved, That we pledge to William P. Canaday our earnest support for Congress from this District, believing that his election will be conducive to the development of its territory by opening its natural high ways to navigation free of taxes, and giving us cheap and easy transportation of our products from the remoter tributaries of all our streams and arms of the sea.

GARFIELD'S TRIUMPHAL PROGRESS.

No victor ever approached his capital amid a more generous and enthusiastic welcome than Gen. Garfield has met on his way to New York City, at the request of friends for consultation, at Cleaveland, whence he started, at Batavia, at Rochester, at Rome, at Lyons, at Syracuse, at Albany, at Poughkeepsie, and so until he entered New York, and was splendidly received at the Grand Central Depot.

All along the route, even in the grey dawn of the morning and sometimes in the middle of the night thousands were crowding the railroad stations to extend to him cheers and laudations.

BUXTON AND JARVIS.

The two candidates for Governor met in joint discussion at Kenansville on Wednesday for the the first time. Jarvis spoke first and Buxton replied. Then Thos. S. Kenan, who was replied to by Dr. Norment. The latter gentleman was in town on Wednesday on his way home and expressed himself as well satisfied with the meeting.

We shall print next week the very able speech of Gen. Rufus Barringer, the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, delivered at Morganton on the 31st, of July. It is stalwart and orthodox in all its points, and bristles all over with invincible argument. We did not get it in season for this week.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of some Democratic newspapers of the state, including the Raleigh Observer, to introduce into the canvass some of the events of the "Kirk War," in connection with the name of Col. A. D. Jenkins, the Republican candidate for Public Treasurer. Since it would add to the unpleasant elements of the canvass if this course is persisted in it will not be the purpose of the POST to give much attention to these subjects, but notice may as well be given that if it is desired to air the events of 1870 it is a game that two can play at.

Political.

The state of Alabama has restored the "ancient purity and glory of the government," and enforced "a full vote, a free ballot and a fair count," according to the precepts laid down by Gen. Hancock in this "faultless" letter, of acceptance, by showing a "clean sweep" of 50,000, majority in a state, in which with a "full vote, a free ballot and a fair count" the Republican majority would be from 10,000, to 20,000. Either our "superb General" ought to modify his dogmas and patitudes, or, or the Alabama "dirty shirts," ought to change their conduct.

The "Union Veteran's Union," the "Boys-in-Blue" had the bad taste to follow the directions of "U. S. Grant, commander-in-chief" &c., by welcoming Gen. Garfield, in Buffalo and New York City. This gross conduct subjects them to the criticism of ex-Confederate Brigadiers and the patriots who gather around Hancock.

Senator Blaine was talking to Mr. Jewell one day last week, and in the course of the conversation he said: It is not a question of victory with us, but the volume of our triumph. I strongly believe that the Union-loving, law-abiding, thrifty and honest people of the North will sweep every State into the Garfield column, and we shall fight for some of the Southern States. If they don't bulldoze our voters, refuse to count our ballots, or swamp us with tissue ballots, we shall carry some of the Southern States."

The blackness of the infernal caverns hangs over the late infamous fraud in the Alabama election, and the chance is that some of those wretches will soon be on the road to the Albany penitentiary.

There has been recently an attempt in Virginia to patch up a compromise between the Readjusters and the Funders in the matter of the Presidential electors. There are two sets of Hancock electors now. The proposition is to permit each wing to select five, the whole from the state being ten. They could not agree and the consultation broke up in a row. In the mean time the National Democratic Committee only recognise the Funder Hancock electors. By the same rule by which they do not recognise the Virginia Readjusters they ought to throw out the Democratic electors of North Carolina and other southern states who have been worse repudiators than the Virginia Readjusters.

The Knoxville Whig & Chronicle compare Hancock's letter to Æsop's fable of the laboring mountain which brought forth only a mouse.

SATURDAY'S NEWS.

General Garfield never drew one cent of the "salary grab" money. All the Democratic members from North Carolina seized it greedily.

Hon. R. B. Vance in a letter in 1878 spoke of the "odious resumption law" can somebody produce that letter?

We never said that Jere Black wrote Hancock's letter of acceptance.

Our candidate for Governor, Hon. Ralph P. Buxton was born in Carteret county in 1826, was graduated at Chapel Hill in 1845, was admitted to the practice of law in 1848, was Mayor of Fayetteville in 1857, solicitor of the Fifth Judicial District in 1,863 delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1865, elected Judge of the Superior Court in 1868 without opposition, elected again in 1874, having been nominated by the Republicans, gaining 2200 votes on the regular ticket, and elected to the Constitutional Convention of 1875.

Dr. Tanner the forty days faster finished his forty days at 12 m. on Saturday. He took his usual walk the day before, vomited a little mucus and water but there was every appearance that he would finish successfully his long abstemiousness.

There is very little known as to the results of the Republican consultation in New York. There were a good many leading Republicans present including John C. New of Indiana, Senator Logan, Senator Blaine and Secretary Sherman. The latter spoke glowing words for the South, saying that his heart beat for all these men of the South, white or black who bore the Republican banner over that part of the country, and where aid either in speaking or organizing promised success, he was in favor of it. Of course the details of the work of the Committee is not made public.

STATE NEWS.

Concord Register: Many of our readers, especially those of Stanly county, will hear with deep regret of the death of Maj. Neil McKay, of Harnett county. The Major was a lawyer of eminent ability, a warm genial courteous friend, a man honored and respected wherever known.

Piedmont Press: It is now a settled fact that tobacco is to be one of the staple products of this section. The citizens throughout the community have found by experience that it is a crop well adapted to this soil and that it is a crop from which ready cash can always be realized. To show the increased interest manifested in its growth we will state that there are about 240 acres in cultivation within a radius of four miles of Hickory. This tobacco is growing nicely and is receiving the proper attention—and as a result of this will yield about 700 lbs to the acre—making in all 168,000 lbs. This, at an average of only 10 cents per pound, will realize the handsome sum of $16,800.00.

He never raised a breeze. If you had passed through the county next day, you would not have known there had been a speaking. Times have changed. Four years ago, when Zeb. Vance came to our village to speak he was attended by brass bands and an immense retinue of citizens. Everybody was enthused. Even children and bloc riders shouted "Rah! for Zeb!" (You remember he promised to repeal the revenue laws, and annihilate the "red-legged grasshopper.") Gov. Jarvis' only attendant was a man from Charlotte, Mr. Wm. Shipp. We felt for him, but his friends did their best!

The sanguine temper of the southern Bourbons will be seen by the following which we clip from a Democratic exchange:

Report has it that the south is to have a fair representation in the Cabinet of President Hancock. Bayard is to be Secretary of State and Hampton Secretary of War. Our Senator, M. C. Butler is to be offered the mission to the Court of St. James and Zeb. Vance the mission to France.

Divers are engaged in searching for the wreck of the United States steamer Huron, which was wrecked on the coast of North Carolina three years ago. A large amount of valuables have been raised, among which is a Gatling gun that cost fifteen thousand dollars.

A tobacco factory in Milton owned by the estate of Geo. L. Smith, and occupied by Hatcher & Stamps, was burned on Tuesday of last week. Loss of stock and machinery estimated at $16,000; insurance $4,000. No insurance on the building.

The Statesville American takes to task the aged Mr. Hale, formerly a much respected citizen of North Carolina, for misrepresenting Judge Swayne's denial that the DeGolyer case was ever before the Supreme Court of the United States, and says severely thus:

Mr. Hale has long commanded the confidence and respect of the people of North Carolina, but what are they to think of him now, when he deliberately perverts facts to blacken the character of a political opponent. The only excuse that can be made for him is that his faculties have been impaired by age and his brain crazed by political zeal; for no one is willing to attribute willfullness to the errors of such a man.

The Signal: There is no man in the state of his age who possesses the confidence of the people to a higher degree than Aaron D. Jenkins, the Republican nominee for State Treasurer.

We acknowledge the complimentary ticket to the "Eleventh Annual Exhibition of the Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society," to be held at Weldon on October 11th to October 15th next. This fair is always a useful one, and a good show, and this year promises to be better than usual.

This statement is floating all over the United States. The fact is that John Hancock left no children, but died in 1793 without issue. Gen. Hancock's father was born about 1808, in Philadelphia.

The mother of United States Senator Grover of Oregon, who died at Bethel, Me., last week, had peculiar traits of character. She was eighty-nine years old, and yet insisted upon living alone. Her neighbors, however, kept a close watch upon her just like a down-east rural people. Despite their watchfulness, however, the poor old lady died alone, being found dead on her bed with her clothing on, and on the stove evidences of preparation for a frugal meal.

A gentleman of the north, who has always been, and now is a Democrat, has been travelling latterly over the north and northwest, and has had great opportunity of forming opinions as to the political situation. He says that the Hancock boom has completely 'flatted out," in the north. States like Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio are no longer doubtful, but are certain to go overwhelmingly for Garfield. He gives it as his opinion that Indiana, on account of the nomination of Mr. English, who has not the first element of popularity over the state, and who is odious to most Democrats, will go overwhelmingly Republican in October. In fact, he believes that nearly ever northern state will go like a whirlwind for Garfield and Arthur.

The saintly character claimed for the leading Democrats of North Carolina back in the era of 1870 and therabout, is fast disappearing. It was then claimed that the leaders were a sort of supernatural existencies, incapable of wrong or improprieties. As soon as these men began to assume positions, and deal with earthly subjects like other human beings, an impression got abroad that they were afflicted with the ordinary human infirmities. There is nothing of the former sacredness remaining about the Capitol at Raleigh, either among the state officials or the members of the General Assembly, or in the Congressional districts, as when Frank Allfriend elevated Col. Waddell into a celestial atmosphere and bestowed upon him wings. Even Armfield and Robbins, the Castor and Pollux of North Carolina politics, are treading upon the earth and abusing each other, after the manner of men. It is rather pleasant, on the whole, to see these ancient saints walking the earth like other people.

The subject of marine railways, to convey large vessels over land for short distances has been discussed for many years. Some little approach was made to it when the canal boats were hauled over the mountains of Pennsylvania, from the waters of the Juniata into the Monongahela. And a plan, complete in all its parts, to build a ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien has long been in existence. This plan was to run as great vessels as float on the ocean, upon a car in a dry dock, and to draw it across over ponderous tracks by immense locomotives. Now, it is proposed to build tracks by the cascades on the Williamette, in Oregon, to the navigable waters above to facilitate the transportation of grain from Eastern Washington territory. The freight by these cascades averages about 1000 tons per day.

The editorial of the South Atlantic for July relates that when the General Assembly got together to sell the Western Railroad, in the confusion of lobbying an act crept through repealing a tax on whiskey the revenue of which was devoted to the support of common schools. It seems that nobody objected to passing an act benefitting the whiskey dealers and injuring common schools. The editor also says that he received "these facts from a prominent member of the Board of School Commissioners of Wilmington who felt the need of the money thus suddenly taken from the educational fund." We wait an explanation.

If ever any man was treated shabby by his former friends on account of his political acts, it is Gen. Longstreet. He was a Lt.-General in the Confederate Army, and without a spot upon either his private or military reputation. When he announced that he "accepted the situation" and acted with the Republicans, he was tabooed, scoffed at, derided, snubed, and socially as much ostracised as if he had been a leper. These facts do not change the character nor fame of Gen. Longstreet, but it throws a little light on the subject of southern bigotry.

The richest woman in America is Mrs. E. H. Green the wife of the President of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. She is the daughter of an old new Bedford whaler, who left her at his death $8,000,000. This has increased naturally to $27,000,000, and she is only at the age of 43. Her husband is rich too, and it is said that the joint income of the couple is $3,500,000.

ORIGINAL PRINCIPLES.

The character of that organization of men called a party, is as inevitably made up by the experience, the acts, the measures and the career of the association, as is the character of an individual by his own personal conduct and character. The character of a political party, therefore, is as distinct before the public, as well known and defined in consequence of its acts as that of the individual person.

To this rule, or rather to these rules, the so called Democratic party is not an exception. If we compare the personelle and history of the Democratic party, from the great canvass of 1860, when Abraham Lincoln appeared as the concentration of certain well defined ideas, as against the different combinations, we shall find the material and the essence of these different combinations inside the present Democratic party. The present Democratic party is, therefore, the legitimate offspring of the loins of the combinations which opposed Lincoln in 1861, as much as the legitimate son is the offspring of his parents. The one has inherited the figure, features and character of the other in all the qualities which contribute to an identity.

If, therefore, we descend to the particulars of history, we will be more and more convinced, by impartial judgment, that the antagonism of the two parties is essentially the same as it was in 1861, when the rebellion was inaugurated. Not only is the personelle of the two organizations essentially the same now as then, but the conclusion is justified completely by a close reference to actions. We shall find on close examination of facts that the element which separated from the country and engaged in armed resistance to the government, had the sympathy of the element which lived in the north and constituted what was left of the Democratic party. If we follow the tone of the public press, the votes in both Houses of Congress, and general occurrences, we will see that the two elements acted substantially together, as they are acting now. The opposition to war measures in Congress during the war, the criticisms of military procedures, not only went on together, but it went so far in 1864 when McLellan was nominated for President that the Democratic convention which put him forward declared formally by carefully drawn resolutions that the war was a failure, and looked distinctly towards an abandonment of the contest of arms.

Even in 1853 and 1854 when the repeal of the Missouri Compromise of 1820, establishing the line of 36° 30′ as the northern limit of slavery, was proposed and carried through Congress, the Democrats north and south were nearly solid for these measures. In the Kansas-Nebraska measures, and the Presidential canvass of 1856 based on those measures chiefly, the Democratic party were solid, or nearly so, north and south. So, down through the election of Abraham Lincoln, his assumption of authority, and the struggle of the war, both these wings of the party were in sympathy. And when the war was ended, and the Presidential election of 1868 came on, there was a general hand-shaking between the two northern and southern wings. And in all the measures of adjustment, it will be found by an examination of the records of Congress, and by cotemporary events among the people, that this same element in every single case opposed every act of Congress and every constitutional amendment, seriatim, indefatigably and even malevolently.

And when the revulsion occurred in the south by the use of fraud, violence and atrocious murders, and the power in nearly all the southern states passed into the hands of the Democrats, and the ex-Confederates appeared in Congress, making up a Democratic majority in both Houses, there sprang into existence not a new party, but a resuscitation of the old party, "with all its imperfections on its head." This resurrected combination, true to their long and injurious history, proceeded to mutilate the statutes, made in pursuance of the readjustment, to undo the wise measures of the revision of the organic and statute law, until they were interrupted in part by the veto of the President. Even now in their secret cabals, in those midnight conclaves of "devilish enginery," there are evil schemes being concocted to put eleven more Justices upon the bench of the Supreme Court, giving them with others on that bench a majority, so that they can nullify the amendments to the constitution, and reverse the whole results of the war.

It Hancock were to be elected, therefore, and a majority of the House of Representatives, the country would go into the control of the very element which has done its best to destroy the government in the first place, and to embarrass all prosperity and overturn public peace and order, in the second place. We are just where we were in 1861, 1864, 1868, 1872 and 1676, opposing the same mischievous schemes and principles under the same hypocrysies and deceptions. Do the people of the south, the business men, the farmers and planters desire to bring back the wretched days of the Confederacy, with all thier corruptions, and oppressions and dire calamities and disasters? Garfield and Arthur will be elected by the north without the aid of the south. The north has its eyes open and does not intend to permit any future disaster, such as has afflicted the nation. Let the people of the south wake up, and join in the glorious column for the preservation of the country.

HANCOCK—JARVIS.

It would be indecorous to say that Jere Black wrote Gen. Hancock's letter of acceptance. There ought to be no great disposition to look closely at earmarks. But there are some curiosities in his unsophisticated production. Such as: "The principles enunciated by the convention (Cincinnati) are those I have cherished in the past and shall endeavor to maintain in the future." And yet he says: "It is a vital principle in our system that neither fraud nor force must be allowed to subvert the rights of the people. It is only by a full vote, free ballot, and fair count, that the people can rule in fact as required by the theory of our government." This is just what several hundred thousand colored and white voters believe in the southern states. But it "a full vote, free ballot and fair count," were permitted, Gen. Hancock would certainly lose at least six of these southern states. His doctrine would certainly displease Wade Hampton, Ben Hill, Chalmers, et id omne genus, and perhaps Jarvis and that distinguished impartial returning board of which he is the chief, composed of Col. W. L. Saunders, Thos. S. Kenan, and other political saints.

And while we are at this point, let us urge Judge Buxton to interrogate the fair minded Jarvis on this subject, at some point, in their mutual peregrinations. It would be fair for Jarvis to be at least as explicit on this subject as he was on the special tax vote. There is almost an unlimited fecundity in this present Democratic machine for voting. A Democratic legislature creates Democratic (mostly) magistrates; magistrates; create County Commissioners; and the said Commisssoners create the poll-holders. This machine commands the situation, if Jarvis & Co. please. The stillness of mice reigns around this subject in Democratic circles. Let them be smoked out!

BRILLIANT GEMS!

I know the Republicans don't like it, but if they do not they may lump it. [Yells and applause.] One hundred and thirty-eight solid votes from what is called "the south" will be cast for Winfield Scott Hancock. New York will add 35 more. One hundred and seventy-three that will make—where will the other 12 come from? All about you—New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana. And when Winfield Scott Hancock is elected by the Electoral College of the country and the two houses of Congress, being both Democratic, to count the vote, we will put him in office. [Cries of "We will," "You bet," and "Yes."] Now you wish to all know why there is a solid Democratic South?

* * * * * * *

They inaugurated a policy that made every man that had one drop of Anglo-Saxon blood coursing in his veins oppose them with all his might. You know what old Virginia was. They say sometimes I brag about old Virginia—I do not, but I love her with the devotion of a child. And here he thumped his breast so vigorously that the boys in the gallery laughed and shouted "Bully for you." He went on: "Well, what did the Republicans do?" [A voice—'They stole the Presidency.'] Yes, they did, and it was not the first thing they stole. They stole our liberties. Why, in 1865 they brought a Governor to Richmond, and put him in the seat of power as a regular Simon Pure Governor."

* * * * * * *

The difference between Garfield and Hancock was, that with the hand Hancock wielded the sword against the rebels in arms, he helped them up again after they were down. When Garfield and the Republicans were trampling them down in the dust, Hancock was protecting them in their civil rights. Then he asked his hearers why they should not be solid in the state of Virginia for the Democratic party, when that party had been their friends.

Such hodge-potch as this coming from an ex-professor of a Virginia college, is certainly sufficiently disgusting without comment. It is a little strange to see a man like Ran. Tucker indulging in this most approved style of "plantation manners." The era of the "dirty shirt," not the "bloody shirt," has arrived.

The reconstruction policy of the north he pronounced the most infamous and disgraceful system ever put upon a brave and generous people. "Talk to me about patience, about tolerance, and about submission," he exclaimed. "In the history of the world there cannot be found an instance where a people ever submitted to half as much as the people of the south."

* * * * * * *

He claimed that there was nothing under the platform of the Republican party but a malicious spirit of misrepresentation of the southern people. Northern demagogues were seeking to prejudice the minds of the northern people against the people of the south by telling them that they are still rebellious and waiting for an oppurtunity to raise the standard of rebellion again. This, he said, was as false as anything that could be said of them, and it shocked him to hear it.

Then came an old fellow named Barnes from Georgia. The reporter touched him off as follows:

Mr. Barnes was very sleepy when he faced his audience, and his eyes blinked as he rolled them around on the unterrified Democracy which confronted him. A glass filled with liquid, which may have been cold tea, was placed on the table by his side, and he began his speech in a husky voice. He said: "I can only say amid this noisy crowd, Peace, be still! It is the voice that comes from Cincinnati. Peace, be still. We are entering on a great and grand canvass. When I went back from Cincinnati to the Empire state of the south, I found that there was enthusiasm once more in Georgia for the Union." The speaker here took a long draught of the dark colored liquid, and wiped the perspiration from his face. "The feeling in the south to-day is one of undying devotion to the Union. I find that feeling prevailing everywhere. If you go south, you will find no feeling at all on the subject of disturbance."

The crowd of New York roughs evidently didn't take any liking to this old Georgian, sent on to teach them politics and manners, so they raised a tumult. While he was saying something about the "down-trodden Democrats of the south," the noise became so great that he stopped short and closed. We again copy the reporter:

Mr. Barnes after giving expression to this noble sentiment, sat down, and protested with violent gestures to the gentleman who sat next him against the noise which had disturbed him during the delivery of his remarkable speech. The Chairman of the meeting breathed a sigh of relief, and the band played "She's a Darling" and "Marching through Georgia," presumably as a compliment to the reconstructed Georgian.

As this venerable Mr. Barnes sank out of sight there were heard broken ejaculations of "Lexington,"—"Bunker Hill," — "Bennington," — "Saratoga," "Trenton,"—"Germantown,"—all mixed up with vociferous declarations that the southern Democrats were all for the Union, and better Union men than anybody else. The north will be likely to "understand the situation" after a little more instruction of this kind.

With the rebel element making every effort toward national ascendancy it is to be hoped the people of the north will have their eyes opened to the gravity of the situation, and next fall put an emphatic stop to its further progress.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

A GRAND TURNOUT.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS.

From Our Own Reporter.

On Monday afternoon persons passing the old market observed a platform in process of erection, and afterwards large life-sized portraits of Garfield and Arthur, surmounted by a gorgeous arch, wreathed with the national flag. Later in the evening martial strains were heard on the streets, and Judge Buxton, Col. I. J. Young and Dr. R. M. Norment, had appeared on our streets. These occurrences on one afternoon were the premonitions of one of the most imposing political gatherings which has ever been seen in our city.

Long before 8 p. m., people began to gather around the platform, and as soon as 8:30, Market and Front streets were packed, at the crossing, with persons of both political parties, anxiously awaiting the first gun of the campaign for Garfield and Arthur, Buxton and the rest of the state ticket, and Canaday.

H. E. Scott, Esq., soon appeared on the platform and, hailed by welcoming cheers, called the vast assemblage to order and proceeded to introduce Judge Buxton in a most felicitous "send off."

Of Judge Buxton's appearance before this great assemblage, of the proprieties of his address and of its subject matter, too much cannot be said. It was moderate and dignified in tone, without so much as a touch of claptrap or begging a question, and altogether such an address as was fitting to be delivered by a citizen of his eminence in a popular consultation of that kind. There was a comprehensiveness and fairness in his mode of treating current questions, an absence of anything to which any one of the opposite party could object, which will, pursued during the canvass, render Judge Buxton a favorite with the people, and win him the confidence and good will of the better class of our people. If the people of the state shall elect him as their Chief Magistrate, as we confidently believe they will, North Carolina will be honored by a Governor, not inferior to the most estimable of all in that long and honorable galaxy of names by which she is already distinguished.

Col. Young, who followed Judge Buxton, took the crowd in his first sentence. He is a model as a popular orator. While he revels in brilliant illustrations, in stories, in fun and pathos with a lavish recklessness, there is never a violation of the smoothest rhetoric nor any of those little improprities which are often seen among popular orators. And he drives all the time towards the objective point with merciless pertinacity, and brings down the house time after time without trying, and always closes with a rhetorical "snap of the whip." We cannot begin to make an abstract of his speech.

We think that Dr. Norment, the candidate for Secretary of State, made his first appearance before a Wilmington "crowd." He hit the mark. His angular positiveness, his ferocious thrusts of his sabre, his terrific scathings, and his domineering audacity of speech show him to be a natnral orator. His voice will be haard over the state during the canvass and will carry consternation into the camp of the enemy.

Then followed Mr. Canaday, our citizen whom everybody knows, and who never mistakes the proprieties of an occasion, but "sees through a mill-stone" as readily as most men. His speech was short, but to the point. Then came one of our other citizens, Mr. Scott, who gave the closing speech, and the meeting broke up with enthusiastic cheers for the national and state tickets and the invincible Republican party.

This glorious demonstration of the people, a sort of impromptu production which seemed to spring suddenly into existence, without much preparation, is but the forunner of others which are before us. The Cape Fear will be awake during this coming contest, and its united ranks will not be ashamed of their record after the third of November.

Hon. William R. Canaday.

On Tuesday, July 20th, the Republicans of the Third Congressional District, in Convention assembled at Smithville, N. C., without a dissenting voice, nominated this gentleman as their Congressional standard-bearer through the coming campaign. The district may congratulate themselves on having a never-tiring Republican worker as their candidate. Every Republican in and out of his district should use all honorable means to secure his election. We know him to be the poor man's friend. "He knows what sore temptation means, for he has felt the same." He is one of the Republicans who regards every Republican as a Republican. He stands firm and square upon the principles of the party. We have never before had a Congressional candidate that stands where he does. First, he is the member of the Republican National Committee representing North Carolina. Second, he was the leading member of our state delegation in the Chicago Convention. Third, he was one among the first to lead off in the break for Gen. Garfield who is our candidate for President.—Good Samaritan.

A PUBLIC DISGRACE.

Nobody can read the letter of acceptance of W. H. English, without a sense of humiliation and shame at the evident baseness of his brain. Modes of thinking and figures of speech which are common in the columns of provincial newspapers of common and cheap order, seems to be the natural vernacular of this person who aspires to sit down as the next in rank to the highest official of this fifty millions of Christian people. Read this and then let us blush for our country:

Besides it should not be forgotten that the last four years of power held by that party were procured by discreditable means and held in defiance of the wishes of a majority of the people. It was a grievous wrong to every voter and to our system of self-government, which should never be forgotten or forgiven—many of the men now in office were put there because of corrupt partisan service in thus defeating the fairly and legally expressed will of the majority, and the hypocrisy of the professions of that party in favor of civil service reform, which was shown by placing such men in office and turning the whole brood of Federal officeholders loose to influence the elections.

Look at the niggardly language, "procured by discreditable means," "never to be forgotten or forgiven," "partisan service," "hypocrisy of the professions," "whole brood of Federal officeholders loose to influence elections." He says the "Members of the Cabinet are strolling about the country making partisan speeches," "their paramount aim to keep themselves and their satellites four years more in office."

Is it possible that we read this despicable language, only worthy of a pothouse, in an official document issued by a person to whom there is at least a possibility of sitting down in the cultivated circles of Washington? And what is worse, in the chair of the presiding officer of the Senate? Is there a deliberate purpose to humiliate the nation by putting a person in the Vice-Presidential chair who shows himself to be so regardless of common proprieties as to put out a semi-state paper, couched in language not tolerated in decent society?

OLD VIRGINIA FAMILIES.

"Ebbitt," a frequent correspondent of the Army and Navy Journal, who is authority, gives something of interest about the Randolphs. He says that William Randolph of Yorkshire, settled at "Turkey Island" on the James, and married Mary Isham of Bermuda Hundred, and had seven sons and two daughters. One of the sons, he says, was the grandfather of Peter Jefferson, who was the father of Thomas Jefferson. His fourth son married the great-granddaughter of Pocahontas. Sir John Randolph, Peyton Randolph of Roanoke, Gov. Beverly Randolph, Edmund Randolph, and Thomas Mann Randolph, as well as the famous John Randolph of Roanoke, were of this family. Among the descendants of this family were Gen. R. E. Lee, Francis Lightfoot Lee and "Light Horse Harry" Lee of the Revolution, and nearly all the Lee's. The correspondent continues:

Time has wrought melancholy changes in the part of Virginia in which the old families dwelt. A century ago the Virginia cavaliers, with the title of gentlemen, who owned immense tracts of land, lived in the style of the barons of England. They had their long retinue of servants and they lived in elegance and profusion. They dispensed an unbounded hospitality, which long years of decay and subdivision of the property have not effaced from the memory of the thoroughly impoverished descendants. Many years since, in the life time of the eccentric John Randolph, he wrote bitterly of the desolation and ruin of his native country. As long ago as 1828 he wrote to his friend Frank Key (the author of "The Star Spangled Banner") as follows: "A few days ago I returned from a visit to my birthplace (Cowson's, on the Appomattox), the seat of my ancestors on one side, the spot where my dear mother was given in marriage, and where I was ushered into the world of woe. The days of my boyhood seemed to be renewed; but at the end of my journey I found desolation and stillness as of death, the fires of hospitality long since quenched; the parish church, associated with my earliest and tenderest recollections, tumbling to pieces, not more from natural decay than from sacrilegious violence. What a spectacle does our lower country present! Deserted and dismantled country houses, once the seats of cheerfulness and plenty, and the Temple of the Most High frowning in portentous silence on the land. The very mansions of the dead have not escaped violation. Scattered fragments of armorial bearings, and epitaphs on sacred stone, attest the piety of the past and the brutality of the present age."

We have spoken of Robert Bolling, who married Jane, grand daughter of Pocahontas, and daughter of Thomas Rolfe. The Bolling family is one of the most ancient in England. In the time of Edward IV. Bolling Hall, Yorkshire, England, was one of the most elegant in the kingdom. For two hundred years the descendants of Pocahontas have been strongly marked with the Indian type. The first Robert Bolling was succeeded by his son John, who lived to grow immensely rich, and who died in 1729. He was succeeded by a son John, and he by Thomas Bolling. A descendant—Col. Robert Bolling—is still living at Petersburg. The family intermarried to such an extent that in one family—that of Thomas, of Cobbs, there were several deaf and dumb children who, however, were very highly educated at Edinburgh, Scotland, by Thomas Brainwood, the famous preceptor of the art of teaching the deaf and dumb.

Up to the time of the commencement of the great civil war the old baronial style of living prevailed to a great extent in Virginia. The immense estates had been divided and subdivided until there were but few of the great landowners left, but the hospitality was as great as ever, and there appeared to be no great regret for their departed greatness. They were happy and contented when the great war came on. The sacred spots then became the scenes of the most frightful carnage, and when the cloud of war had passed there was a desolation there that even Powhatan and the Analostans would have shuddered at.

JAMES BUCHANAN.

During the memorable winter of 1861, while the last days of Buchanan's fated administration were dragging their slow length along, it was well understood that the poor old man was surrounded by those enemies of the country who did not even trust him. He was in fact a loyal man surrounded by traitors.

Chief Justice Shannon of Dakota, an old friend and intimate acquaintance of Buchanan called to see him early in 1861. During the conversation, in reply to a question of the President, as to the feeling of the people of the west, Judge Shannon told him that the northern people would stand by their flag before their party, that the nation must be preserved at all hazards. Judge Shannon proceeds in language which we give verbatim:

"I remained an hour or more, and arose to withdraw, when President Buchanan, without his hat, followed me to the door, out down the walk to the gate, and there, with a voice filled with emotion, he said: 'Judge, I have no doubt but that you have told me truly; but what can I do surrounded upon all sides by the friends of secession, by men believing in state rights; even watched in the seclusion of my own home? For,' said the o'd man bitterly, 'that beautiful lady sitting there in our company this evening, was none other than a southern spy upon my home speech, and acts, and, upon one pretense or another such has been the case for months, a constant espionage. Whither the country is tending I cannot tell. We must trust in God and the incoming Administration. I can do nothing—watched day and night—and it is too late to call about me councilors and advisers.' 'And,' said Mr. Shannon, 'I shall never forget the picture the old man presented at this moment; his hair streaming in the wind; the tears running down his cheeks; his whole frame shaking with emotion. And thus I saw him for the last time. I shook hi. hand, bade him good-bye, and departed. History narrates the rest.'"

The writer goes on to observe that this recital has its moral. If Hancock should by a miracle be elected, he will be surrounded by the same class of men as Buchanan was. Is he a man of stronger will than Buchanan? Nobody believes that he is. What will he be led to do, hemmed in by a horde of traitors as was Buchanan? The writer, very truly answers:

"Then, subjected to like influences, he will fail as Buchanan failed, and and state rights will triumph. Fellow-citizens, be not deceived. A Democratic victory is a triumph of the men who made the rebellion. They are to-day as full of schemes opposed to the north—opposed to the welfare of our country—as they were in 1860. Give them the chance and you shall see. That is it—give them the chance. Dare we? Shall we? Can we?

Crimes.

A free vote as understood in Kentucky:

A special to the Gazette from Madison, Indiana, dated August 2nd, says: "B. O. Smith, colored, was knocked down at the polls to-day at Milton, Kentucky, by Amos Fox, a white man, and then set upon by other white men, one of whom, named Cornman, stabbed Smith several times, and another broke his skull with a club, inflicting fatal injuries. Cornman was arrested.

A colored Democratic speaker from Virginia, named Harris, attempted to make a speech at New Castle, Delaware, when he was stoned and forced to seek protection of the sheriff.

Col. Lee Crandall says:

"While I was in Alabama the statement was boldly made that we (the Greenbackers) might poll the largest vote; that the Democrats would out count us. In Lowe's congressional district," continued Crandall, "we will have a big majority, but in the Black Belt country the Democrats will wait to see what majority they have to overcome, and will then go ahead with their counting process."

Lewis Ramey, colored, convicted at the last term of the corporated court at Danville, Va., for the murder of his wife, but granted a new trial, was again on August 2nd, in the same court, convicted of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to the penitentiary for seventeen years.

At Denver, Colorado, Edward Egan killed a bar-keeper with a revolver, and at Council Bluffs, Iowa, Owen McKay was pounded to death.

In East Middlebury, Vermont, a hotel keeper who put up a Garfield and Arthur flag, was seized by Democratic kuklux, stabbed, pommelled, a rope tied to his feet and then pitched into a creek, taken out and tied to a tree, his head shaved, and was found there senseless, the next morning.

Oakes, a young man aged 19, was stabbed to death at Danville, Va., by a boy aged 15.

Three armed men waylaid some Germans in Minnesotta, fatally wounding one and robbing him of $40.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

ADOPTED AT RALEIGH JULY 7th.

The Hon. R. C. Badger, chairman of the Committee on Platform and Resolations, reported from that committee the following:

The Republicans of North Carolina, in Convention assembled, renew the pledges made in all their former platforms. And they declare as follows:

1. That they cordially approve the nominations, recently made at Chicago, of James A. Garfield for President, and Chester A. Arthur for Vice-President; and that they will most cheerfully and actively devote themselves to their election, as indispensable to the preservation of the Republican party, and of the Republic, in its integrity. And that they fully endorse the principles set forth in the platform, adopted by the Republican convention, which convened in the city of Chicago, on the 2nd day of June 1880.

2. That they have seen, with great apprehension and alarm, the rapid consolidation and engrossment of our railroad systems, by and under the control and ownership of foreign monopolists—that such consolidation of capital gives power to the monopolists to oppress the labor of the country by unreasonable and unjust local tariffs and fares, and gives to them the power to control the legislative branch of government, in the passage of laws in their interest, and ruinous to those of the people; and that they have seen with regret, that these monopolists are making an insidious invasion among the leaders of the Democratic party, which culminated on the 17th day of June, in the engulfing and swallowing up of the whole Democratic State convention; and that while they have no desire or intention to make an unjust war upon these monopolies, they do demand that the Legislature shall pass laws to govern and control them, so that they shall not be permitted to discriminate against our own people, and place a reasonable limit on local tariffs and fares.

3. That they view with anxiety the condition of the Western North Carolina Railroad, which, through the hot haste and ill considered contracts of the Democratic state administration, is surrounded by legal troubles which afford no relief from taxation, and threaten to delay for a long time, if not altogether defeat, the completion of that work so necessary for the welfare and development of the state, and especially the western counties.

4. That the Republican party has always been the friend of education, and now again renews its pledge to the people of North Carolina to continue its efforts with increased vigor, until there shall be a complete and perfect system of public instruction.

5. That they recoguize the mechanic and laborer as the bone and sinew of the land, and pledge themselves to protect their rights and promote their political, educational, and material interests.

6. That the recent constitutional amendments were passed by a convention which was not composed of a majority of elected delegates, and the control of which was stolen from the Republican majority, by an infamous and admitted fraud on the voters of Robeson county. This corruption, on the part of the Democracy, demonstrates the fact that their party will scruple at no violation of law in the interest of party supremacy; and that the Democratic party is not the friend of representative government or of the people.

7. That the present system of county government in North Carolina is utterly subversive of the rights of the citizens; is the grossest political robbery ever practiced in this, or any civilized country; is the most damnable fraud ever devised or sanctioned by any political party, and calls for the unqualified condemnation of all who have the name of freemen, without regard to party affiliation. We claim the right of the people to elect every officer in the state, from the Chief Executive down to the humblest official, and demand that this right shall not be denied nor abridged; that an honest count shall follow a free ballot, and the majority shall determine who shall enact and administer its laws.

8. They denounce the Democratic party as an oligarchy, controlled by railroad corporations and aristocratic influences, and if not arrested in its course, it will overthrow the most cherished rights of the people. The tendency to the concentration of dangerous powers, for private and corrupt ends, in the hands of a few, has recently manifested itself in a vittal part of our State government, and in a way to excite the greatest apprehension. The Superintendent of Public Instruction, now endorsed by his party nomination, and without regard to the popular wish, has demanded to have vested in his hand, that is in the hands of a central board of which he should be the life, the absolute right of dictating what text books our children shall use, whereby he can mould the opinions of the rising generation; can strangle, for the benefit of personal or sectional favorites, all competition in local literature, and open up for his office, so intimately connected with the popular life and purity, a faithful and profitable source of corrupt jobbery. That they denounce the laws known as the landlord and tenant acts, as devised for the benefit of a few, to oppress the humble and defenceless citizen. That they denounce the present road laws of the state, as oppressive to the laborer, and demand their amendment, so that burdens of building and repairing them shall be borne more equally by all classes of the people.

The report was adopted.

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper. —:o:—

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

EDITOR WILMINGTON POST:

We should thank the delegates of our Conventions for giving the Republican party such an honorable gentleman for us to rally for next November. It is the ticket to be voted for by the people of the Third District, and I am glad to say that the people of the Second Congressional District are overjoyed at our candidate for Congress. I am glad to say that those delegates did what the Republican party prayed for, hoped for, and that is, selected men for these tickets above all suspicion. Their record is open to the world, and no one can fight an instant against them,

The history of the Republican party says that we are founded upon principle, and this act proves it. But with God's help we will jog along. Some of the Democrats are saying that they dont want what the Republicans cast out, and before they will have it they put down wrong and cling to the right. Gentlemen of the Republican party; while this be true let us hold fast to our holt, because if we go to fooling we will slip up, and down we will fall.

And if any independent gentleman approach our party, tell him that the Republicans will be satisfied, and it is best to let well enough alone and tell him that no fire tried Republican will seek to cover us up deeper, but will seek to uncover us. So our crops are nearly planted but we have got some small crops of corn to plant all over the state and that is our county ticket. But let us run our rows with the same plow; and that is get fire tried Republicans, and let their garments be clear of all political stain in your county ticket. And by so doing when harvest day is come next we will house a good crop, and pay out of debt, and the old North State will fly her banner of Republicanism. When that is done, the cloud that now hangs over her head, and obstructs the moral visions of her people will leave her like the flashing of lightning. I anticipate a better day.

Letter from Smithville

SMITHVILLE, N. C Aug. 5, 1880.

MR. EDITOR.—Please allow me a space in the columns of your paper to say a few words, as to what I think of our affairs here in Brunswick county. This year we are to elect a candidate for the legislature who will not hesitate to see to the interest of his constituency, and with such a man we shall carry the county of Brunswick overwhelmingly. I desire to present to the Republicans of my county a good man in every respect to represent us in the legislature of our state, and that man is Mr. Whitfield Griffin of Smithville. I desire also to present to the Republicans of my county Mr. Edward W. Taylor, for the office of Sheriff; and for Treasurer R. M. Wescott; and for Register of Deeds H. K. Ruark. By placing these four at our mast-head, I assure victory over the Democratic party in Brunswick this year. I remain your Republican friend. S. E. S.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.

JEWELRY

$75.00 worth for $15.00

—) AND A (—

Solid Abysinian Gold Watch

FREE!

The above offer is genuine, although at first sight you would consider it impossible. We will explain: Since we first established our business here, March 1st, 1878, we have paid particular attention to the buying of bankrupt and Auction Lots of Jewelry and Watches, often buying at as low as one-tenth their value, and in no instance have we paid over one-sixth the manufacturers' price. Since starting we have always been able to dispose of these goods in Chicago and through our regular customers throughout the country at nearly regular prices, as fast as we could procure them, but owing to the large number of failures among the heaviest dealers and manufacturers throughout this and other countries during the months of June, July and August (the time when the Jewelry business is stagnant), we have now on hand an immense stock of the most desirable goods we have ever handled, and which we have bought at lower prices than ever before. In order to dispose of this entire stock in the most speedy manner possible, and make room for new ones which we shall continue to buy, we have hit upon the following novel plan:

We propose to give you a list of the most desirable of these goods, giving opposite each article its regular retail value, and sell to you at the rate of Five Dollars' worth for $1.00. For instance, on receipt of 50 cts. we will send you, POSTPAID, any article to the value of $2.50; on receipt of $1.00 articles to the value of $5.00, and so on throughout the entire list. Below we give a list of the most valuable of these goods.
